Martial Arts Experience

When I started training in the martial arts I knew very little about it. I thought I was taking class for a good workout. Little did I realize the life changing effects the Martial Arts provides. Not only was I getting the best workout of my life, I was working my mind and my body, all while learning how to protect myself. As I continued my training, and eventually started my studies to become a teacher, I realized that the only way to bring my two loves together, teaching and fitness, was to teach martial arts. Everyday I get to do what I love best, all while teaching children, teens, women, and men how to protect their body, their mind, and whatever means the most to them in their lives.
